SUBJECT TO CHANGE AND ALTERATION WITHOUT NOTICE

At WHALJETS, we are committed to protecting the privacy of our customers and website visitors. This Privacy Policy explains how we collect, use, and safeguard personal information.

We collect information including names, email addresses, phone numbers, physical addresses, travel details such as destinations and dates, and payment information when payments are made directly via card online. This information is used strictly for booking purposes, while email addresses and phone numbers may also be used for advertising and promotional communications, for which customers can opt out at any time. Lead passenger information is retained on our booking system for operational purposes, and we may use aggregated data for internal research and development, such as targeting marketing campaigns in specific geographic areas based on booking trends.

Personal information is only shared with third-party providers directly relevant to a booking. We never share information outside of this context. Additionally, we may use cookies and tracking technologies on our website to enhance functionality, monitor analytics, and improve the customer experience, with all data usage strictly for business development purposes.

We implement industry-standard security measures to protect your information, including encrypted databases and secure servers, with access restricted to authorized personnel only. Customers have the right to request corrections to their personal data, though corrections may not always be guaranteed if made after a booking. All personal data is deleted 24 months after the last date of travel. Customers may request access to, correction of, or deletion of their data at any time by contacting info@whaljets.co.uk.
